Dear Tankersley St Peter's Community,

Wow, we made it to the end of the longest term in the world, in one piece! Despite the challenges, our pupils have continued to demonstrate remarkable resilience and enthusiasm for learning.

This week, our Year 1 class embarked on a delightful autumn walk, exploring the beautiful seasonal changes in our local environment. I was particularly pleased to hear they managed to stay dry - a lovely bonus during these unpredictable autumn days!

We were treated to a fantastic Tudor play performed by our wonderful Year 4 pupils. Their acting was truly brilliant, and I want to extend my thanks to all the parents who attended and supported our young performers.

Our Year 2 pupils have been diving deep into their geography lessons, exploring the vibrant culture of Mexico. They've been learning about traditional Mexican cuisine and comparing it to their own food at home. The highlight was a tasting session - though they cleverly didn't invite me to join!

On Wednesday, we had a lovely assembly, where a lovely parent, Amy Young, came to tell us all about her recent success at a national competition. Amy was away representing England at the International Combat Organisation's World Championships, in Swansea, and came away with two silver and one gold medal, in Kickboxing, Ring Continuous and Martial Box. If your child is inspired to start Kickboxing check out Amy's gym at: <https://www.facebook.com/share/19qhgAhMeX/>

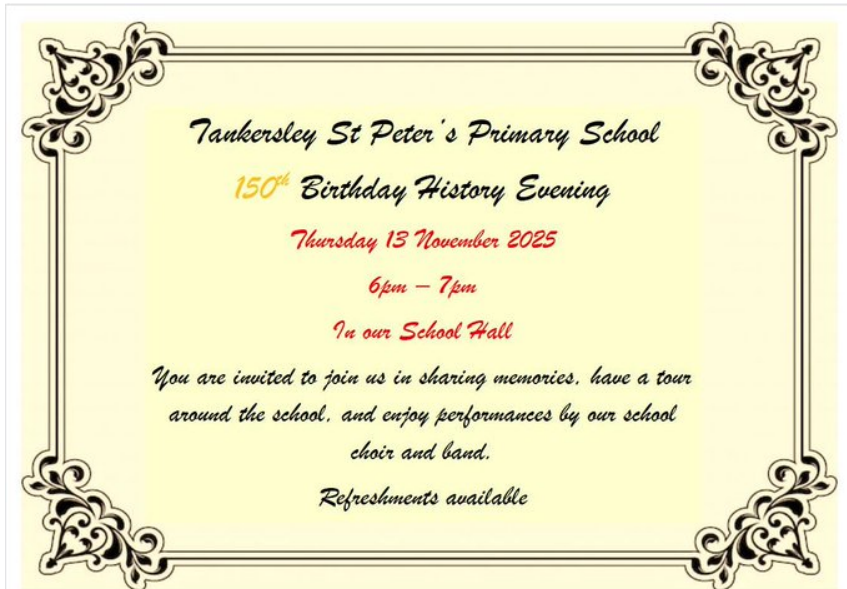

In our Nursery, the Hungry Caterpillars have been exploring the wonders of autumn and learning about hedgehogs. They combined learning with fun, developing their maths skills through an engaging hedgehog game and even creating their own bread hedgehog - what a creative bunch!

I must also address an important matter regarding pupil safety. We are a nut-free school, and I cannot stress enough the importance of ensuring lunch boxes are completely nut-free. This is deeply personal to me, as my eldest son has a severe nut allergy and has been hospitalised multiple times. I've experienced first-hand the terrifying consequences of nut exposure, including a particularly frightening incident on an airplane where a peanut was found down the side of my son's seat.

Your cooperation in maintaining a safe environment for all our pupils is not just appreciated - it's essential.

An exciting milestone approaches: our school's 150th birthday history evening! We cordially invite our community to join us for an evening of celebration. The event will feature a choir performance, an opportunity to explore old registers, photographs, and Head Teacher diaries, and a tour showcasing our school's evolution. We warmly encourage you to bring any historical photographs or memories to share in our special memory book.

Lastly, a practical notice for parents: if a child is not collected on time, we will continue attempting to contact parents. Children not collected promptly will be placed in after-school care, with charges applied accordingly.

This half term, I will be going to see my Mum who lives in North Yorkshire. I love walking in this area, there are so many beautiful waterfalls, my favorite being Asygarth. I am also dog sitting my sister's dog for a few days (Ozzy Oz Dog), he is insane, with buckets of energy and I have just taken delivery of a new sofa, what could possibly go wrong?

Have a lovely break.
